

Terms and Conditions

Effective Date: April 30, 2024

Welcome to the Innocence Freed website. These Terms and Conditions govern your use of our website, online services, event registration, donations, sponsorships, and other transactions made through Innocence Freed.

By accessing our website or completing a transaction through our website or an authorized fundraising platform, you agree to these Terms and Conditions.

About Innocence Freed

Innocence Freed is a Nebraska nonprofit organization dedicated to providing shelter, healing, and hope to survivors of child and adult sexual exploitation and human trafficking. Guided by the love of God, we bridge the gap between despair and recovery through comprehensive, trauma-informed programs.

Website Use

The information provided on this website is intended for general informational, educational, charitable, and fundraising purposes.

You agree to use this website only for lawful purposes and not to interfere with the operation, security, or accessibility of the website or its services.

Donations

Donations made to Innocence Freed are voluntary charitable contributions and are used to support our mission, programs, services, and organizational needs.

Unless otherwise required by law, charitable donations are generally nonrefundable. If you believe a donation was made in error or an unauthorized transaction occurred, please contact us promptly so we can review the circumstances.

Innocence Freed is recognized as a tax-exempt organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Donations may be tax-deductible to the extent permitted by law. Donors should consult their tax professional regarding their individual circumstances.

Event Tickets and Registrations

Tickets and registrations for Innocence Freed events, including fundraising events and galas, are subject to the terms stated at the time of purchase.

Unless otherwise specifically stated, event ticket purchases are nonrefundable. If an event is canceled, postponed, or materially changed, Innocence Freed will communicate available options to registered attendees as appropriate.

Event details, including speakers, schedules, programming, and activities, may be changed when circumstances require.

Sponsorships

Sponsorship payments support Innocence Freed's charitable mission and events. Sponsorship benefits vary according to the sponsorship level selected and the specific event or campaign.

Sponsorship payments are generally nonrefundable once sponsorship benefits, recognition, advertising, event preparations, or other commitments have begun.

The tax-deductible portion of a sponsorship may be reduced by the fair market value of goods or services received. Sponsors should consult their tax professional regarding deductibility.

Auctions, Raffles, and Other Fundraising Activities

When Innocence Freed conducts auctions, raffles, drawings, or other fundraising activities, additional rules may apply. Participants agree to follow any rules, eligibility requirements, payment terms, and restrictions provided for the specific activity.

All such activities will be conducted subject to applicable laws and regulations.

Payment Processing and Third-Party Services

Innocence Freed may use third-party platforms and payment processors, including event registration, fundraising, and donation services, to securely process transactions.

When you use a third-party service, your use of that service may also be governed by the provider's own terms, conditions, and privacy practices. Innocence Freed is not responsible for the independent practices or services of third-party providers.

Privacy

Your privacy is important to us. Personal information collected through our website, donations, event registrations, and other interactions is handled in accordance with our Privacy Policy and applicable law.

We do not sell personal information for commercial purposes.

Intellectual Property

Unless otherwise stated, the content on this website, including the Innocence Freed name, branding, logos, written materials, graphics, photographs, program materials, and other original content, is owned by or used with permission by Innocence Freed.

Content may not be copied, reproduced, distributed, modified, or used for commercial purposes without prior written permission from Innocence Freed, except as permitted by law.

Survivor Privacy and Confidentiality

Protecting the dignity, safety, and privacy of survivors is a priority of Innocence Freed.

Stories, photographs, identifying information, or other survivor-related content appearing on our website may not be copied, reproduced, distributed, altered, or used in a manner that exploits, misrepresents, identifies, harasses, or causes harm to a survivor.

External Links

Our website may contain links to third-party websites or resources for convenience or informational purposes. Innocence Freed does not control these external websites and is not responsible for their content, availability, security, or privacy practices.

No Professional Advice

Information provided through this website is not intended to replace professional medical, mental health, legal, financial, or emergency services.

Individuals needing immediate assistance or emergency intervention should contact the appropriate emergency services or qualified professionals.

Limitation of Liability

Innocence Freed makes reasonable efforts to provide accurate and current information. However, we do not guarantee that all website information will always be complete, current, or error-free.

To the extent permitted by applicable law, Innocence Freed is not responsible for losses or damages resulting from the use of, or inability to use, this website or third-party services linked from it.

Changes to These Terms

Innocence Freed may update these Terms and Conditions periodically to reflect changes in our services, events, technology, organizational practices, or applicable requirements.

Updates will be posted on this page with a revised effective date. Continued use of the website following an update constitutes acceptance of the revised Terms and Conditions.

Governing Law

These Terms and Conditions are governed by the laws of the State of Nebraska and applicable federal law.
